SHIP COBEQUID, 120 ON BOARD, FAINTLY CALLING FOR HELP

Wireless Signals Received in Morning, but Vessel Cannot Be Found at Location Given and Fate in Storm, Which Is Subsiding, Still Is in Doubt.

WRECKAGE WASHED IN NOT YET IDENTIFIED

Hope for Vessel Rests in Efforts of Three Ships Which Are Searching Bay of Fundy for Steamer Fast on Ledge.

YARMOUTH, N. S., Jan. 14.—The Royal Mail Packet Co.'s steamer Cobiquid was sighted aground on Trinity Ledges near here when the fog lifted today. The greater part of the steamer's hull is above water and it is believed that those on board are safe.

By Associated Press.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Jan. 14.—The faint purr of an "S. O. S." call from the missing steamer Cobiquid was picked up at several points in the Bay of Fundy at 10 o'clock this morning and revived hope for the safety of the vessel and the 120 persons on board.

The wireless was not sufficiently strong or continuous to give the location of the vessel, but indicated that she had survived a tempestuous night and there still was a chance for her passengers and crew.

The Canadian Northern liner, Royal George, which had been en route the distance and heard the steamer Lady Laurier replying, asking for the location of the Cobiquid, but no response from the Cobiquid could be made out. The Lady Laurier went out from Halifax yesterday to take part in the search and sought to be near the wreck today.

It still is believed the Cobiquid struck on one of the Grand Manan ledges and that Capt. Howson mistook the point for Brier Island when he first called for assistance at daylight yesterday.

A wireless message from the steamer Rappahannock, bound here from Halifax, reported that it had passed Brier Island and Grand Manan without seeing any trace of the Cobiquid.

Wreckage Begins to Come In.

During the forenoon wreckage began to come ashore on the Yarmouth side of the Bay of Fundy. It was apparently from a steamer and made plain that as a result of the storm of the last 24 hours some vessel, perhaps the Cobiquid, was on the ledges of Grand Manan and that a part of her upper works had been swept away.

The wreckage included an extension ladder, a hatch combing, companionway fixtures and a signboard bearing the inscription, "Keep Clear of Twin Screens." As the Cobiquid is a twin-screw boat, it is thought the sign came from her stern.

The drift of the wreckage indicated the possibility that the steamer struck on the southwest ledge off Brier Island.

The weather conditions were a little more favorable for the search for the Cobiquid today, although a dense mist still hung over the waters. The snow-storm had passed but the temperature remained several degrees below zero.

A 30-knot northeaster whipped the sea.

Hope for the vessel rests chiefly on the efforts of the United States revenue cutter Woodbury and the Canadian Government steamer Lady Laurier. The Canadian cable steamer Tyrion did not go out from Campbellton. Lieut. Randolph Ridgely Jr., commander of the Woodbury, was last reported to be making a stubborn fight through heavy seas. This forenoon he was beyond wireless range but was thought to be close to Grand Manan.

The Cobiquid was in command of Capt. Hawson, completing her first round trip from St. John, N. S., to the British West Indies. She had a crew of nine and a number of second-class passengers on the following day in the first-class cabin: L. S. Navarro, Mrs. Botta, W. C. Zoller, Mrs. Zoller and child. She had called at Bermuda, but most of her passengers were from points south of there.

The Cobiquid was formerly the steamer Goth and had been pressed into the winter service from maritime provinces to the tropics. She sailed from Halifax Dec. 5 for West Indian ports and started north again Dec. 30 from Grenada. She cleared from Bermuda on Jan. 10.

She was famous for high seas.

Approaching the Bay of Fundy, famous for its swift tides and mountainous seas, a blizzard descended upon the steamer. Capt. Hawson was heading for Cape Sable Rock light, the guide to the western end of the bay and a warning of the ledges which stretch 10 miles to the southwest of Grand Manan.

It was about sunset yesterday when the operator at the wireless station at Cape Sable across the bar picked up the Cobiquid's cry for help. The message

CHEMIST'S SON-IN-LAW SHOT DEAD

Knock Wife of Radical Party Leader Down Before Her Son-in-Law Shoots Him.

By Associated Press.

PARIS, Jan. 14.—A double tragedy connected with Turkish political intrigue was enacted today at the residence of Gen. Mehmed-Cherif Pasha, one of the chiefs of the radical Turkish party.

A strange Turk called to see the Ottoman politician and was refused admission by his valet, Ismael Hakki, whom he immediately shot dead.

Cherif Pasha's son-in-law, Salih Bey, hearing the commotion, ran into the corridor and shot and killed the assassin.

Cherif Pasha's wife, before her marriage was Princess Emina of Egypt, came out of her apartments after the first shot. The assassin struck her a violent blow in the face with his fist and knocked her down.

In the meantime, Salih Bey, who had gone for a revolver, returned and killed the assailant, who had continued firing wildly.

Cherif Pasha came out of his bathroom to inquire what was the matter and saw his wife standing over the two dead bodies in the corridor. It was thought at first that she also had been shot, but she was uninjured.

The Pasha has been the object recently of numerous threats, which he says emanate from the adherents of the Young Turks.

Cherif Pasha is the editor of a newspaper published here in the interests of constitutionalism in Turkey, and he directs a widespread agitation in the Justice Court.

RECORDS OF RAINFALL.

Precipitation in Paris, at the same time stated that the rain had fallen for 24 hours and had not been negligible. Hayes was called to testify to the amount of rainfall. Koffman sought to show that the rainfall was not heavy enough to cause the damage, if the company had not been negligent. The case was decided in favor of the Terminal.

In his written complaint to the department, Frey says that Hayes admitted on the witness stand in the trial of the case that he had received two checks for $5 each from the Terminal Railroad Association after he had testified in the trial of the case in the Justice Court.

RECORDS OF RAINFALL.

Precipitation in Paris, at the same time stated that the rain had fallen for 24 hours and had not been negligible. Hayes was called to accept such compensation, but that the department had later made an order forbidding this practice, and that he had returned some other similar checks.

Hayes testified, Frey said in his complaint, that the Weather Bureau records of the rainfall on the day in question were correct. Frey said he made an investigation which convinced him that the tipping bucket used by the St. Louis weather office, as a means of gauging rainfall, was out of order at the time.

He said he went to Hayes and asked that the method of using the instrument be demonstrated to him, but that Hayes was willing only to show him a picture of the instrument. Hayes also told him, he said, that his assistant would not be permitted to testify, as cross-examining lawyers sometimes made subordinates, it was thought, appear to contradict their chief.

He was then appointed chief of the national staff and many honors were conferred on him for his services in the war.

During the Russo-Japanese war he was as chief of the naval general staff and contributed greatly by his strategy to the retention of the command of the seas in the Far East by the Japanese fleet.

COUNT ITO, JAPANESE FLEET ADMIRAL, DEAD

He Developed His Country's Navy; Destroyed Chinese Fleet in Yellow Sea.

TOKIO, Jan. 14.—Count Yukio Ito, admiral of the Japanese navy, died this morning, in his seventy-first year.

Count Ito had more to do with the development of the Japanese navy than any other man. He entered the service in 1868 and studied for a considerable time in the United States. In the war between China and Japan in 1894 he took a very prominent part, commanding the combined squadrons of the Japanese fleet which fought the battle of the Yellow Sea, afterward blockading the port of Wei-Hai-Wei and destroying the Chinese fleet.

He was then appointed chief of the national staff and many honors were conferred on him for his services in the war.

During the Russo-Japanese war he was as chief of the naval general staff and contributed greatly by his strategy to the retention of the command of the seas in the Far East by the Japanese fleet.

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—Isaac Bond, the last negro suspect wanted in connection with the murder last October of Miss Ida Leegron, an art student, was arrested here today. He declared he was innocent.

Bond was released from the penitentiary at Jefferson City, Mo., last August after serving a term for the murder of one David Jones, at Cape Girardeau, Mo., in September, 1908.

A photograph of Bond was identified as that of the man who pawned some of Miss Leegron's jewelry the day after the murder. The identification was by Max Binkowitz, a clerk in a pawnshop.

Eruption Said to Be Abating, Followed by Many Storms, Delaying Government Aid; Famine Scourges the North.

By Associated Press.

TOKIO, Jan. 14.—Official reports for night of the disaster in Southern Japan brought out the following general features:

The small island of Sakurajima is covered with a layer of lava and ashes, in places several feet deep. Beneath this lie many corpses, the number of which probably never will be known.

Estimates of dead must include refugees drowned while trying to swim from Sakurajima to the city of Kagoshima.

Kagoshima, last week a prosperous town of 60,000, is in ruins. Buildings of stone even collapsed under the weight of the hot ash.

Ashes Cover 2000 Square Miles.

Simultaneously with eruption of the volcano of Sakurajima, an eruption of Yarigatake threw a cloud of ashes over Matsumoto, but this did no serious damage.

Eruption of Sakurajima is gradually subsiding. A heavy rainfall is clearing the atmosphere.

10 Dead in Kagoshima.

Kagoshima, the nearest big city to Sakurajima, while it suffered great damage from the earthquake, does not appear to have sustained a severe loss of life.

H. Tjulin, former Japanese Minister to China, who lives at Kagoshima, sent a dispatch to the Foreign Office in which he said that 10 persons have been killed and 30 injured there. He also stated that great confusion prevailed in the streets.

Other telegrams report that the barracks, Governor's residence and the temples were among the buildings wrecked by the earthquake.

The postoffice was one of the first buildings to collapse in Kagoshima at the start of the disturbance. The staff escaped and after the first panic erected a hut in a field and now is repairing the telegraph equipment. Kagoshima is protected from looters by patrols of police and troops.

American Said to Be Safe.

All Americans in the vicinity are safe. Word to this effect has been received from Carl F. Reichman, the American Consul at Nagasaki, who telegraphed as follows:

"A private telegram states that Americans in Kagoshima fled to Sendai, near Kagoshima. All safe."

Several American missionaries were stationed at Kagoshima.

Sakurajima at the height of its eruption is pictured in reports as a terrifying mountain of fire. The air is full of smoke around is thick with ashes and smoke. The police and soldiers of Kagoshima soon after the disturbance began to rescue many persons from the island.

The people at first did not seem to realize their danger and were slow to trying to escape. It is feared that many were killed before reaching the shore.

Thousands, perished by a rain of fiery stones, knelt on the beach half submerged in water and perished.

PRESIDENT TAKES UP TRUST PROGRAM WITH SENATORS

Hopes to Concentrate Activity on Plan That Has Administration's OK.

BUSINESS IS REASSEURED

Message Will Propose That Personal Guilt Be Fixed and Advocate Trade Commission.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—President Wilson conferred today with congressional leaders on trust legislation. He talked first with Chairman Newlands and Democrats of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee and later had a second conference with Chairman Clayton and Democrats of the House Judiciary Committee.

To the latter committee the President three weeks ago gave a preliminary outline of his ideas. Today he discussed specific points.

The administration intends to obtain from these committees bills on which all their members are agreed and the President hopes he may be consulted and the bills launched with the stamp of administration approval, as was the case with the tariff and currency.

An effort will be made to distinguish for the business world those measures which have the support of the President and those which may represent the individual views of members of Congress, though the President's friends in Congress hope to reduce the number of personal bills to a minimum.

Would Fix Personal Guilt.
So far as is known the cardinal features of the President's plan are:

- Supplementing the Sherman antitrust law to reduce the debatable areas around it.

- The prohibition of interlocking directorates.

- Location of individual responsibility and the fixing of personal guilt for all violations.

- The creation of an Interstate Trade Commission to perform the functions not only of a bureau of information, but to determine by its investigations whether decrees of dissolution or mandates of the court are carried out.

It was said today that the President's forthcoming message satisfies the trust views of every member of the Cabinet and those members in close touch with the business world believe the industry of the country will find healthful reassurance in it.

The President yesterday gave to the members of the Cabinet his ideas on the Government's relation to big business, the field that anti-trust legislation should cover at the present session of Congress, and the spirit with which he believed the task should be approached.

Peace and war, a feeling of friendly conciliation, rather than a hostile antagonism, and yet a constructive program, were the main features of uncertainty about the law and stimulate the growth of legitimate business—these are the fundamentals of the President's plan of action to be embodied in the message he will send to a joint session of Congress next week. He presented the document to the Cabinet and worked all afternoon on some minor changes as a result of the meeting. Members of the Cabinet spoke of the message as a progressive declaration that would reassure the business world of the sincere intentions of the administration to deal fairly with it.

Romer McCord Pleads Guilty and Is Sentenced to Kansas Reformatory.

IOLA, Kan., Jan. 14.—Homer McCord, 20 years old, who on July 22 last lured Mrs. Mary Armstrong Dean, a bride of 14, from her husband, while the pair were on their honeymoon, pleaded guilty yesterday. FOSTER TO PLEAD TRIP WITH TYPIST IS AN 'ESCAPE'

Business Man's Defense in Mobile Based on Kansas Ruling on Mann Act.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MOBILE, Ala., Jan. 14.—Before the opening of the preliminary hearing of James M. Foster today, attorneys said that his defense would be based on a recent decision in the Federal court at Wichita, Kan., in case he is forced to go to trial.

Foster is accused under the Mann act of transporting from Pemberton, N. J., to Mobile, Miss. Delilah Bradley, his 16-year-old stenographer.

Judge Pollock, in the Wichita decision, held that the law was intended to apply only to cases where the accused intended to commercialize women, and that what the court referred to as "escapades" were not within the scope of the act.

Miss Bradley has made an affidavit in Foster's favor, the police say. Miss Bradley, according to the police, alleges that Foster saved her from disgrace and that the blame which has been placed on him should be put on a Royersford (Pa.) man.

The girl's father charges that the affidavit of his daughter is untrue as to the Royersford man and was drawn simply to shield Foster. Bradley says his daughter has promised to return home but he has asked the Mobile police to keep Foster and the girl from meeting on the streets and in the cafes.

Foster will contend that the Royersford man bought the tickets on which Foster and the girl traveled to Mobile. The purchase of the tickets is the technical violation of the Mann law charged.

'DOROTHY DALE' A STEPDaughter OF DELLA FOX

Bride of Richard J. Howard Had Many Adventures in New York.

COUPLE LEAVING ST. LOUIS

Will Go Back to New York, Where Young Wife Expects to Return to Stage.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK Jan. 14.—Dorothy Dale of Broadway, whose marriage to Richard J. Howard, wealthy young St. Louisan, has aroused much interest here, has a record of sprightly adventures which is well known along the White Way.

Dale is just a non de Broadway. The young woman is a stepdaughter of the late Della Fox, and by the same token is a daughter of Jacob Levy, diamond broker, who married the vivacious Della in 1909. Her name, which she signed at the time of her wedding Dec. 16, in the Little Church Around the Corner, was Dorothy Virginia Levy.

She is hardly 21 years old, and it has been only four or five seasons since she put her hair up, let her skirts down, and began applying to stage managers for a place as a showgirl. Her stage career is soon to begin, being only a small part of the short and simple annals of three or four musical productions.

Denied Marriage in 1910.

Dorothy Dale first became an object of interested inquiry Feb. 15, 1910, when the city editors of New York newspapers received an anonymous "tip" that at the end of a lively dinner party, she had married Charles J. McElhinney, 20 years old, son of a wealthy mine owner. She denied the report, saying it was a silly boy's joke, and for a year afterward, the only highlight which shone on her was that of the theaters in which she occasionally marched, countermarched and warbled.

In February, 1911, she had the misfortune to become involved in a misunderstanding with the police. A Mrs. Louise Morroth, dining in a restaurant at Seventh avenue and Forty-Ninth street, missed two gold mesh bugs, and Dorothy Dale, who was sitting near her, was arrested.

A man known as Frank Douglas, who owned the bugs, later told the police that he got them from Miss Dale. The young woman admitted to Justice Seberry that the lost articles had passed through her hands, but when she swooned before the bench the Justice was moved to pity and suspended sentence.

Her Clothing Confiscated.
In the following October she again appeared in court, this time as a complainant. She said the manager of the

GENERAL STRIKE IN SOUTH AFRICA MET BY MARTIAL LAW

Trade and Commerce of Colony Brought to Standstill by Sympathetic Labor War.

By Associated Press.
CAPE TOWN, Union of South Africa, Jan. 14.—Proclamation of martial law throughout the Union of South Africa, in response to the declaration of a general strike by the Federation of Trades, is regarded as making the issue a clear one between the state and syndicalists, who have adopted a system of rapidly organized sympathetic strikes.

The origin of the dispute is the railroad men's protest against a policy of retrenchment adopted by the employers, has been in sight of in the great sympathetic labor war which has brought the trade and commerce of the colony to a standstill.

The drastic character of the regulations which came into effect with the proclamation of martial law created considerable surprise.

From last evening the use of such epithets as "scab" and "blackleg" was prohibited under penalty of severe punishment, while any attempt to intimidate workers was forbidden. Newspapers are debarred from publishing reports calculated to promote ill will between the disputants.

The strike region is divided into nine areas, each controlled by an officer vested with absolute power as in time of war.

The Hudson Six-54, $2285
(Delivered in St. Louis.)

Not All Sixes Will Do This

The average man thinks a Six is merely two-cylinders added to a Four. The engineer knows better. Many baffling problems were solved by Howard E. Coffin and the Hudson engineers before the HUDSON Six was perfected. Not all designers of Sixes have been so successful. Not all Sixes will develop the marvelous smoothness, the amazing flexibility, the vibrationless motion that one enjoys in the HUDSON Six. It's worth your while to see the H'UDSON before you decide.

Until you drive a HUDSON Six you cannot realize its great advantages. Its smoothness and flexibility are an assurance, as well as a delight. HUDSON Sixes are preferred because of high quality combined with moderate price. The Six-54 has four forward speeds, 155-inch wheel-base, motor 3 1/2 x 25, developing 47 horse-power; speed 12 to 17 miles per hour. The Six-40 in Phaeton and Roadster at $1775, and in Cabriolet at $1975. All cars, of course, are electrically lighted, and have the latest radio, heater, gas-line tank in cowed dash. COUNCIL TAKES UP COMPROMISE PLAN IN MILL TAX CASE Committee Named to Negotiate With United Railways on $2,000,000 Debt.

With only one dissenting vote Tuesday in the City Council, a committee consisting of Councilmen Arendse, Hines and Koenig, and Delegates Scully, McCarthy and Ebrecht, was instructed to negotiate for a compromise of the United Railways mill tax debt for more than $2,000,000 and the vacation of the Ranken tract streets for the $1,000,000 offered by the Terminal Association in 1910.

The two legislative subjects have been objects of the bitterest fights in the history of the Municipal Assembly, moving one Councilman to retire from office and eliminating many others from the political arena.

The action Tuesday followed the preparation of a report by George E. Dieckman, Zoo Commissioner, who told reporters that he had no opinion as to the justice or wisdom of either of the old bills that were defeated after a hard struggle. Dieckman said his sole idea in starting the campaign "was to raise money for the completion of the free bridge by the quickest method he knew of."

Previous Offers Not Considered.

Dieckman said he did not know the United Railways had offered $10,000 a month for eight years, instead of a single payment of $1,000,000.

Dieckman said also that he did not understand W. S. McChemey Jr. of the Terminal Association to say in a statement given out recently that if the Ranken tract streets were vacated the association would not now agree to pay any cash bonus.

Schwartz Opposes Compromise.

Delegate Barnes, Schwartz of the Turney-Brown, the only Assembly man voting against the Dieckman resolution, said in explanation:

"I do not think the city can afford to compromise such matters as the mill tax on any terms. If we are not legally entitled to the tax, we do not want it or any part of it, even if we can bluff the company into paying part of it. On the other hand, if we are legally entitled to it, we cannot afford to give away the taxpayers' money."

The joint committee did not arrange for its inaugural meeting at the Tuesday night session and members said they had not made definite plans of procedure.

TRUNK MYSTERY CLEARS, FOLLOWING CONFESSION

Prisoner Admits Helping Dispose of Body of Man Whose Death Was Natural.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—The mystery of the Pitt street trunk murder of a fortnight ago was partially cleared yesterday by police questioning of Victor Murvalos, arrested in connection with the crime. Murvalos admitted he helped dispose of the body of the victim, Ivan Martyshevich, to his friends in Boston that he had believed Martyshevich's death was natural.

From other statements he made, however, the police formed the opinion that the victim had been lured to the flat by a young woman for the purpose of robbery and that an overdose of knockout drops killed him. Murvalos had been identified as one of the two men who purchased the trunk.

Mrs. T. H. Williams, of Chicago, Ill., writes: "As I was leaving my office for lunch, I slipped and fell, and sprained my wrist. At 5 o'clock could not hold a pencil in my hand. At five o'clock I purchased a bottle of Sloan's Liniment, used it five or six times between 5 and 7 p.m., and the next day I was able to use my hand as usual."

LOSS OF HAIR IS ACCEPTED AS THE FIRST INDICATION OF OLD AGE

Don't Look Older Than You Are.

Although frequently accepted as such, this wavy hair does not necessarily indicate age or old age. In fact, it is more often transitory to the hair-dressing effect of dandruff and hence becomes a matter of mere personal neglect.

Hair—hair that has that natural sheen and luster, which are such an aid to beauty, is the best hair.

GAS COMPANY MAKES NEW PLANS BUT NO NEW RATES

The making of by-product coke, to be placed on the St. Louis market as a smokeless fuel, and the production of coal gas in much larger volume than heretofore, will be begun by the Laclede Gas Light Co., following the completion of its two new and modern retort houses at Main and Mullanphy and at Second and Rutgers streets.

The coal to be burned in these retort houses will be purchased through the W. W. Warren Coke Co. of St. Louis from the Consolidation Coal Co. of Baltimore, under a contract which it has made with the Laclede company for the extraction of coal mined from its Elkhorn coal field, Southeast Kentucky for a term of years.

Hitherto the Laclede company has produced about 65 per cent water gas and 35 per cent coal gas in its St. Louis plants. Under the new arrangement this ratio will be reversed. New means of transportation also will be used. In the past coal from the Pennsylvania and West Virginia fields has been brought to St. Louis by water.

Charles L. Holman, president of the Laclede company, in telling a Post-Dispatch reporter of the company's new plans, said the principal reason for the change from water gas to coal gas was the increased price of oil, which enters as a factor into the production of water gas.

When he was asked whether the by-product coke would lower the expense of producing gas and thus would make possible a reduction in price to the consumer, he said that such would not be the result. He said the new plan was being adopted to keep manufacturing cost from being increased by the higher cost of oil.

With the completion of its new retort, the Laclede company will make 8,000,000 cubic feet of coal gas daily, costing 100 tons of coal, and producing 35 tons of coke, which will be especially treated and sized to meet the requirements of domestic trade.

When the company's new coke plant in Carondelet is completed it will use 600,000 tons of coal annually, and will have a coke output of 200,000 tons.

GETTING GRAY? USE SAGE TEA TO RESTORE NATURAL COLOR OF YOUR HAIR

Says Sage Tea when Mixed with Sulphur Darkens the Hair Just Beautifully and Removes Dandruff.

Hair that loses its color and luster, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair, says a well-known local pharmacist. Our grandmother's tea, a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep hair looks dark and beautiful and even today this simple preparation has no equal. Millions of women and men too, who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive use only Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Nowadays we are not bothered with the task of gathering the sage leaves and the messy mixing at home. Simply ask at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of the ready to use preparation, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." Customers like this best because it darkens so naturally; so evenly that nobody can possibly tell has been applied. Besides, it contains ingredients which take off dandruff, stop scalp bleeding and calm hair. No, it won't dye or even like it. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur" and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two it is restored to its natural color.

What delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that besides beautifully darkening the hair they say it brings back the gloss and luster and gives it an appearance of abundance—ADV.

Dr. Herron was expelled from the Congregational Church. He and his bride went to live in New Jersey.

After another application or two it is restored to its natural color.

THREE WINE CAVES CLOSED IN COUNTY; LID NOW ON TIGHT

Excise Commissioner Fine Says No More Oases for Motorists Exist on Highways.

Robert J. Fine, one of the two Excise Commissioners of St. Louis County, announced Wednesday that with the closing of three of the biggest wine caves on South Broadway and in Luxembourg, the lid at last has been clamped tightly and securely in the county. Motorists from outside, he said, no longer find the county an oasis where they may satisfy a thirst after saloons and cafes are closed in the city.

Fine told a reporter he had to gather his evidence on Sundays and from 1 to 5 p. m. He has made more than 100 trips about the county during these hours, and many mornings has not returned home until after 5 a. m.

The authority of the Excise Commission created by the last Legislature, he said, is at last being recognized by county saloon keepers. The result, he finds, is that the law is being observed to the letter.

Three raids on three consecutive Sundays resulted in the arrest of the proprietors of three of the largest wine caves in the county. The offenders arrested were Bill Hensz and John Hagen, of 6000 South Broadway, John Volmer of Lemay Ferry road, and John Beck of Military road. All pleaded guilty.

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 14.—The General Film Co. of New York yesterday pleaded guilty to violating the monopoly section of the Texas anti-trust law, paid a fine of $35,000 and was enjoined from discriminating in the distribution of its films.

The wine caves, which have been in existence more than 50 years and which have been patronized mostly by foreigners, are really large barns in which there are two compartments, one for drinking and one for dancing. Mooney said his investigation showed that young girls drank and danced in the wine caves, that men became intoxicated drinking the red and white wines, and that sometimes a favorite kissing game, called catch-as-catch-can, was indulged in.

JACK LONDON TELLS OF HIS ONE SUPERSTITION

It's "Always to Bet on a Sure Thing," He Says at Thirteen Club Banquet.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Jack London told the members of the Thirteen Club, at their annual banquet at Hotel McAlpin last evening, that in general he did not believe in hoodoo or superstitions. Then he told how he had played poker in Alaska some years ago every night for three months and in pretty poor luck.

"I was playing against 'boose,' too," he added, "and one night the cards were very badly against me. Finally I caught a royal straight flush pat—no one came in. But that's only a lot of luck."

He admitted that he had one superstition—always to bet on a sure thing. He illustrated this by another gambling incident in the Klondike, when, nearly broke, he played in a craps game where the banker didn't understand the rules and paid more than he ought to the winner. He won a lot.

Once, having booked for a voyage, he gave it up because he wanted to see some new places. The ship sailed and was never heard from again, but he insisted he had no hunch.

Miss Sophie Irene Leob was a special guest. She sailed for Europe at 1 o'clock this morning on the Lusitania, undismayed, she said, by the fact that the departing time was the thirteenth hour.

Universal Film Co. Working on New Series of Pictures.

Carl Laemmle, president of the Universal Film Manufacturing Co., announces that his corporation is working on a series of educational pictures dealing with various manufacturing processes and life problems in the large cities.

Laemmle has always worked hand in hand with the various censor boards ever since the "movies" became a source of amusement to the public. His idea is to produce picture plays that will teach a moral lesson. Every film produced by the Universal company, which is a combination of the Rex, Imp, "16" Bison, Nestor, Joker, Gold Seal, Edgar, Victor, Crystal, Frontier, Powers and Animated, is submitted to the National Board of Censors before it is released for public showing. Of course, those that have met with the approval of the censor board many have not been released because President Laemmle was fearful that they might teach a lesson of wrong-doing.

OTTAWA, Kan., Jan. 14.—The first of a series of rural social centers which, if a plan recommended by Prof. William McKeever of the Child Welfare Department of the University of Kansas, is carried out, will be formed throughout Kansas, was organized in a community near here today. Forty families entered the organization. Eight hundred dollars was subscribed for a club house. Neighborhood entertainments and social gatherings will be held in the clubhouse.

SPECIAL ATTENTION.

Your further and more specific assurance lies in the fact that I have been practising in my specialty here in St. Louis for 21 consecutive years. During this time I have cured thousands of sufferers who live in the city and throughout the surrounding country.

TO THE LADIES.

Ladies should bear in mind that I have under treatment over 100 cases of piles. Many women as men, I say, should not be afraid of suffering when there is a cure to be had. I will gladly refer you to my former patients, whom you can see for yourself. I ask you to make a special inquiry from them points, because they are of the greatest importance.

DAMAGE VERDICT RAISED BECAUSE OF MERITLESS APPEAL

Indiana Supreme Court Adds 10 Per Cent to Award Against Road to Trainman.

By Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 14—Because the Chicago & Erie Railroad Co. prosecuted an appeal held to be without merit, was one of the reasons why the Indiana Supreme Court added 10 percent to the amount of a judgment when the decision of a lower court was upheld.

Henry L. Lane, a brakeman, obtained a judgment for $14,000 against the railroad for injuries in 1900, but eight years later the case was returned to the lower court because the plaintiff's complaint was insufficient. He then obtained judgment for $7000 damages and the railroad company again appealed.

In its decision the Supreme Court said: "Except that a verdict for a larger amount might well have been given, it would hardly be conceivable that minds could disagree over the justness, under the laws of the state, of the result reached by the jury. We feel that the litigation has been unjustly prolonged and, considering this, together with the fact that the amount awarded is not fully compensatory, the judgment is affirmed with 10 percent additional damages."

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 14.—The General Film Co. of New York yesterday pleaded guilty to violating the monopoly section of the Texas anti-trust law, paid a fine of $35,000 and was enjoined from discriminating in the distribution of its films.

TWO SOLOISTS AND ORCHESTRA DIVIDE SYMPHONY HONORS

But a Meager Audience Hears Concert for Teachers' Fellowship Society Benefit.

FINE PROGRAM PRESENTED

Combines Classical Quality With "Sunday Pop's" More Widespread Musical Appeal.

By RILEY D. SAUNDERS.
THERE were great areas of vacant seats in evidence at Tuesday night's Odeon concert by the Symphony Orchestra for the benefit of the Teachers' Fellowship Society, but "plain living and high thinking" has always been the rule for the world's educators and it is, perhaps, no occasion for surprise at the maintenance of conditions that make the rule as inflexible as the law of the Medes and Persians.

The musical program with Mrs. A. I. Epstein as the vocal soloist and Concert-Master Hugo Olk as the spotlighted violinist, was quite enjoyable and its various numbers were received with appreciative cordiality.

Mrs. Epstein was heard to advantage in the "Cavatina" aria from Gounod's "Queen of Sheba," with the orchestra and in a sonata group comprising Brahms' "Liebestraume," Schubert's "Gretchen am Spinnrade" and Ries' "Fruehlingssal." With Mr. A. I. Epstein accompanying at the piano, also in Coleridge-Taylor's "Butterfly, Greet My Lady," as an encore, the Schubert song and the extra number being the best of her offerings.

Hugo Olk daringly essayed two Spanish dances from his program number, making his violin sing almost a solo strain in the deeper phases of the first, and playing throughout with a fine revelation of technique. In response to long-continued applause he presented Lotte's "Spinnerle," more notable for its demand upon the virtuosity of its performer than for any considerable melodic contentment of its bringing.

The orchestra's contributions to the evening's enjoyment were the overture to Beethoven's "Egmont," Schubert's lovely "Unfinished Symphony," the Tchaikovsky "1812" overture, selections from Bizet's "Carmen" and the majestic Wagner "March of Homage," a program skillfully combining the high quality of a regular subscription concert with a "Sunday Pop's" more widespread musical appeal.

It was evident that the classicists and the populists, so to speak, alike were pleased. The Schubert composition more fully delighted the former, and the smashingly dramatic and pictorial Tchaikovsky tone-painting and Bizet's passionately colorful score the latter.

CHICAGO FEDERALS HELP ST. LOUISANS CLOSE PARK DEAL

Handian Plot Leased for $10,000 a Year After Conference With Weeghaman.

BROWN SIGNING PLAYERS

St. Louis Manager Goes Right Ahead Grabbing Men for the Local Team.

By W. J. O'Connor.

The announcement Tuesday in Chicago that the St. Louis Federal League club had obtained a 10-year lease on Handian's Park and would use that site as its home the coming season, and the subsequent verification of these facts through the local promoters, followed closely the appearance here of Charles Weeghaman, a wealthy caterer from the Windy City.

Weeghaman, accompanied by his partner, W. M. Walker, appeared suddenly on the local horizon Tuesday morning and spent a busy session with the local promoters. In the afternoon he talked with Harry Tinker, over the long-distance phone and Tinker promptly announced to the Chicago press that the St. Louis club had obtained Handian's Park. Later Tuesday evening President E. A. Steinberg and Otto Stiles of the local clubs announced that they had leased Handian's Park for 10 years at an annual rental of $10,000, with options of purchase for $250,000.

Weeghaman's appearance here was preceded by many rumors to the effect that additional capital was needed by the local promoters to float the Federal League team. Stifel, Steinberg, Fritsch et al had held innumerable conferences but were unable to come to terms with Gene Handian, owner of the park site. It was stated in these columns Sunday that additional capital was needed to swing the park deal, but the business of "leasing the grounds was speedily transacted once Mr. Weeghaman reached this city."

Location Is Desirable.

The local Federal's sincerity in wishing to place a third major league team here no longer can be doubted. They have started with the right foot forward by acquiring the most desirable park location in the city, and after this deal was consummated Tuesday Manager Brown set about to hire a ball club.

"I have several players already signed," Brown told the writer at the M. A. C. Tuesday evening. "And I have signed them without leaving St. Louis. Other players are expected here within the next few days to sign their contracts and when the time comes to give out the names I hope to have a very pleasant surprise for the local fans."

Although it was reported yesterday that he had signed Bobby Byrne, the local boy, who played with Pittsburgh and Philadelphia last season, Lefty High, the outfielder, who has made good with Detroit, and Dee Walsh, the flashy young infielder, who has been with the Browns for a year ago. All of these boys are native sons.

Lefty Lafield, Willie Smith, an ex-Cardsman; Charlie O'Leary, recently released to the Coast League, and Max Carey, the star catcher of the National League, are others who have been mentioned by Brown.

Select Uniforms. Wednesday.

Brown is rushing his work and will select uniforms for his club Wednesday. He almost already has decided on a dark gray pattern with black stripes, while he gives absolute assurance that any player who wants one will have no red trimmings on whatever suit he picks out. "I never saw a tall-and-skin yet that didn't have red stripes on their stockings," Brown observes.

The leading members of the committee of the local wing of the organized field and President Schuyler Britton departed handily for Pittsburgh, where he hopes to sign Pitcher Tom Dean and Hagerman. He also will try to land Art Miller, whose home is in the same hotel. Hagerman will be a good buy, while Shorty Bob Conroy has been shunted into Toledo and the Southern States to round up Orince, Ferrell, Oakes and others. There's quite a future in the baseball business just ahead.

THE BOOTS DOING IT. Does what you want to do, but don't let the world know about it.

Hennessy's Second Slugs Referee; Gains 2 Minutes Solsburg Wins Battle

St. Louis Bantam, After Fighting Poorly for Seven Rounds, Gains Lengthy Respite, Before Last Round, Through Rough-House Tactics of Henchman.

By Harry S. Sharpe,

Referee for the Future City A. C. and the Post-Dispatch Boxing Authority

HERE was plenty of excitement on tap last night at the Future City Athletic Club. There were five bouts in all, and all of them took place in the ring, but one was an impromptu affair and not on the original program.

This one happened at the end of the seventh round of the bout between Johnny Solsberg and Francis Hennessy, when one of Hennessy's seconds, Ed Hart, addressed an insulting remark to me and then landed a right hook to my left ear. Then the battle was on, but lasted only until police officers and spectators could climb in the ring and put an end to it.

Hennessy, his seconds and his manager, Jimmie Doyle, were all shouting, "HE DID NOT KNOW THE NAME OF THE OPPONENT!"

But the occurrence gave Hennessy a nice long rest of about three minutes between the seventh and the eighth rounds of a bout in which he was receiving a severe mauling from Solsberg.

Now for the main event: Hennessy struck the limit in an eight-round bout, and Solsberg, trying hard and using every available punch he could, was unable to stop the St. Louis boy or knock him out.

This probably was due entirely to the fact that from the very beginning Hennessy avoided punches and covered his face and head with his arms and hands, drawing his elbows close to the body. This sort of defense made it almost impossible for Solsberg to reach a vital spot. Solsberg punished Hennessy by straight punches to the top of the head and to the forehead, and now and then managed to drive a punch in to the nose and lower part of the face; but Hennessy's turtle-like defense offered the desired protection to his chin and jaws.

HENNESSY'S COVER EFFECTIVE

Frequently Solsberg pushed the crowding Hennessy from him and tried to uproot or hook to the side of the head, but he seldom succeeded in getting through Hennessy's cover.

Hennessy constantly bored in toward his opponent and at close quarters he uncurred and hammered away at Solsberg's body, the Brooklyn boy meeting the issue in like manner. Generally when this happened, however, the boys stood so close together that but little damage was done by either, and at times it was ended in a clinch, and at times I had trouble separating them.

The few times Hennessy attempted to box with Solsberg he was badly outclassed and was soon driven to cover by hard straight punches.

There can hardly be any doubt that Hennessy boxed Solsberg, instead of constantly resorting to cover, he would have been beaten and, in all probability, knocked out because Solsberg is much the better boxer of the two, a harder, straight hitter, and with superior judgment of distance.

From the beginning it looked as if Hennessy had been sent late in the ring to stick the limit, regardless of how badly outpointed or beaten he might be. In this he succeeded and, judging by numerous remarks heard afterwards, he registered a big surprise.

Hennessy took a beating and stood up under it, and this, too, may have surprised a great many. He bled in every round, beginning with the first, when a hard right hook from Solsberg cut a slight gash just over his left ear. At intervals during the bout he bled from the nose and mouth. As the bout wore on his features gave ample evidence that some of Solsberg's blows were reaching his face, but they were not hard enough or often enough in succession to make him forget his stone-wall defense.

The Cards have signed Hank Robinson. We don't know much about Hank, but it looks like first division.

Schuylar Britton was re-elected president of the Cards on the Progressive ticket. This being the case Mr. Britton will now please proceed to progress.

The Cards had been sent late in the opening in the major leagues over the signing of one obscure "busker" than there used to be over ninety and nine stars of Ty Cobb caliber.

CUTTHROAT.

Huggins let his Hank Robinson and Murphy trumpled in the Vic Sader, thinking to clinch the trick, but Steinberg slammed his Handian Park joker on the table and took the pot: "Count the Cards," yelled Huggins. "There's been a miscalculation."

Players may get a little more money in the Federal League but what assurance have they that the center field fence will be painted green.

Must Watch Carefully the Children's Diet

Start Them Off Right With a Good Laxative and Then Watch Their Food.

Mother's are often unconsciously very careless about the diet of their children, forcing all to eat the same foods. The fact is that all foods do not agree alike with different persons. Hence, avoid what seems to constitute the child or to give it indigestion, and urge it to take more of what is quickly digested.

If the child shows a tendency to constipation it should immediately be given a mild laxative to help the bowels.

By this is not meant a physic or purgative, for these should never be given to children under ten years of age, unless a doctor prescribes them.

What the child requires is simply a small dose of the gentlest of medicines, such as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which, in the opinion of thousands of watchful mothers, is the ideal remedy for any child showing a tendency to constipation. So many things can happen to a constipated child that care is necessary. Colic, piles, headaches, sleeplessness, and many other annoyances that children should not have can usually be traced to constipation.

Many of America's foremost families never use anything but Syrup Pepsin, because one can never tell where a member of the family may need it, and all can use it. Thousands endorse it, among them Mrs. M. E. Patten, Valley Junction, Io., who is never without it in the house. Mrs. Patten says that Syrup Pepsin has done wonders for her boy Ralph, who was constipated from birth, but is now doing fine. Naturally she is enthusiastic about it and wants other mothers to use it. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold by druggists at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, the latter size being bought by those who already know its value, and it contains proportionately more.

Everyone likes Syrup Pepsin as it is very pleasant to the taste. It is also mild and nonirritating and free from injurious preservatives.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle may obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

'JOKER' IN HOWE'S NEW BILLBOARD BILL IN THE HOUSE

Attorney for "Trust," Defeated on Four Measures, Introduces Fifth in House.

REDUCE THE PERMIT FEE

Protzmann, Author of Fourth Measure, Himself Votes Against It in Council.

Jeptha D. Howe, attorney for the Billboard Trust, defeated on four billboard measures in the City Council when the Protzmann compromise bill was killed Tuesday, 9 to 2, hastened to introduce a fifth bill in the House of Delegates in the evening after boasting to Councilmen that he could get a bill through the lower branch in short order.

The fifth bill is probably the most interesting of the series, because it contains a "joker" in the elimination of four words from the 1905 ordinance—"erected, refaced or replaced"—which, if construed literally, would make the law apply only to billboards "hereafter erected and constructed."

The effect of this change, even if no other amendment of the 1905 ordinance were enacted, might be to sanction all boards now illegal until the companies were forced to wear and tear of time to do more than "alter, reface or replace" them.

Provisions of the Bill.

The bill makes other changes and reduces the permit fee from $1 from each 5 linear feet, or $10 for a full-sized board, to $1 for each 400 square feet.

It also permits boards to be erected on the building line, whereas the old law keeps them back 14 feet from the sidewalk line, even where the building line is the sidewalk line. It does not sanction double-deckers, but fixes no 50-foot limit on the length of a board. It permits boards to extend within 2 feet of the ground and within 2 feet of a building.

Speaker Andrew Gazzola Jr. introduced the bill by request, as he represents the ward in which the Thomas Cusack Co., known as the "Billboard Trust," has headquarters. Those who are familiar with legislative diplomacy as practiced in the Assembly do not expect to see the billboard measure considered in the lower branch until an agreement has been reached with the Council on a program to complete the free bridge. The Howe bill will go to a committee Friday, upon its second reading, and could be reported and disposed of at any subsequent meeting under the rules.

Protzmann Bill Vote.

Howe supporters in the Council in his fight to amend the 1905 ordinance, which was suspended for nearly eight years by litigation, dwindled away perceptibly at each onslaught until Councilman Protzmann, author of the latest compromise bill, reported it Tuesday without recommendation and himself voted against it.

The vote on the Protzmann bill was: To file—Protzmann, Ebeling and Lazarus, 9; against filing—Paulie, Rower, Randall, 3. Absent, Meehan.

The reception probably was the largest of its kind ever held in the White House. An official count showed 2072 persons were in attendance.

M'PHERSON SAYS SUIT INJUNCTION APPLIES TO ROADS

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 14.—Attorney-General Barker today received from Judge Smith McPherson of the Federal District Court a reply to the telegram which Mr. Barker sent the Judge yesterday, asking if the latter issued a temporary injunction against the prosecution of recovery suits against the railroads in order to give the railroads a chance to win.

Judge McPherson, in his reply, said: "Common failure of both you and the railroad attorneys should call for consequences of both sides that I be given all next week to file my own opinion and enter my decree. There will be no delays. In the meantime, both sides should allow all matters to remain as they were last Saturday, and such was my thought when I issued the restraining order last Saturday, and if I can make such intention more effective, send me an order for consideration."

Judge McPherson said that the injunction against further procedure in the recovery suits for excess charges collected while the State rate laws were in litigation applies to both sides. He will go to Kansas City next Wednesday and there until he enters a final decree in the rate cases.

Attorney-General Barker said today he would take no further action until Judge McPherson enters a final decree.

Protected at Going to Station. Burns says that Overall protested against being taken to the station, on the ground that his father was a former Police Commissioner. Burns told him he would have to drive to the station. Burns said he then consented to Overall driving home with his wife and child, but Overall, he says, insisted on Burns waiting until he returned from the house. To this the policeman says he objected.

Overall, according to Burns, then said he would arrest Burns and take him to the home of Police Commissioner Maffitt if he had to remove Burns. Burns ordered him to drive to the station. Overall started, but turned into the driveway at the Maffitt residence.

As Overall left the automobile and started up the steps, Burns says he placed his hand on Overall's shoulder and urged him to come along without making a scene there, but that Overall pulled and jerked, and his coat was torn. He finally agreed to drive his wife and child home and Burns accompanied him and then took him to the station.

OVERALL CHARGES AUTO COP HANDLED HIM TOO ROUGHLY

Says He Will Prove Policeman Used Poor Judgment in Making Arrest.

TO FIGHT SPEEDING CASE
Captor Declares Attorney Protested Against Going to Station and Tore His Coat.

John H. Overall of 3673 West Pine boulevard, an attorney, and Eric Burns, a motor cycle policeman, gave their versions Wednesday of the incipents connected with Overall's arrest Sunday afternoon by Burns for speeding on Lindell boulevard, for which Overall is to be tried next Monday in the Municipal Court.

Overall, in a statement to a reporter, said he would show by witnesses when the case is called for trial that the officer used poor judgment and unreasonable force in making the arrest.

According to Overall, as he was driving his car south on Lindell boulevard Sunday afternoon about 2:30, just east of Sarah street Burns rode alongside and ordered him to stop.
When he came to a stop, he said, the officer informed him he was speeding.
Overall said he told Burns he thought he was mistaken, but that he could not argue the point, and would go to the station with him as soon as he could take his wife and 2-year-old daughter, who were in the machine, home. The officer objected to this,
Overall said, because he was afraid Overall would go into his house and refuse to come out again.

Drove to Commissioner's Home.

Overall said he then suggested to Burns that they go to the home of Police Commissioner Thomas G. Maffitt, 3715 Lindell boulevard, with whom he was acquainted, to be identified, and when the officer agreed to this, he turned his machine around and drove to Maffitt's residence.

Here, he said, upon stepping from his car, he was grabbed by the patrolman, who started to drag him along the street, without any explanation except that he was going to take him to the station. Overall said he told Burns he was not resisting arrest, but that he would not go to the station in this manner, and that furthermore he intended to take his wife and child home first.

The two struggled on the lawn several minutes, and then Overall called out for Maffitt. Maffitt was not at home, but some friends had called to see him and Overall and Burns had to wait with Burns.

Burns at last consented to let Overall take his wife and child home, then he took Overall to the station, where no charges were preferred against him on for speeding and one for driving an automobile without a license. The latter charge, Overall said, grew out of the fact that his car was a new one, with only a dealer's license, as he had not obtained his new 1914 license, for which he had already applied.

Overall said he believed the officer was wrong about the speeding and that he would fight the case.

Protested at Going to Station.

Burns says that Overall protested against being taken to the station, on the ground that his father was a former Police Commissioner. Burns told him he would have to drive to the station.
Burns said he then consented to Overall driving home with his wife and child, but Overall, he says, insisted on Burns waiting until he returned from the house. To this the policeman says he objected.

Overall, according to Burns, then said he would arrest Burns and take him to the home of Police Commissioner Maffitt if he had to remove Burns. Burns ordered him to drive to the station.
Overall started, but turned into the driveway at the Maffitt residence.

As Overall left the automobile and started up the steps, Burns says he placed his hand on Overall's shoulder and urged him to come along without making a scene there, but that Overall pulled and jerked, and his coat was torn. He finally agreed to drive his wife and child home and Burns accompanied him and then took him to the station.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

A Wrong Definition of Gambling

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
In answer to your article advocating the prohibition of betting, I would ask: What does not gamble? The locomotive engineer, the miner, the painter, the structural iron worker, and even the mother risking her life in bearing her children, are all gamblers. They risk their lives the better only his money. The miner is a cheap gambler, risking his life for a mere pittance. Again, has not the laborer at $1.50 a day as much right to bet his 50 cents in a handbook as the millionaire who has to gamble in stocks? Oh! not gamble—I should write, trade!

A HANDBOOK PLAYER.

The Shoe Workers' Strike.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
As a shoe cutter having an interest in the shoe workers of St. Louis, I would like to give a few of the causes for the strike against the Hamilton-Brown Shoe Co.

That the employees were never informed as to contents of contract between officials of the Boot and Shoe Workers' Union and said firm.

That at time of signing of contract no members of the Boot and Shoe Workers' Union were employed by said firm.

That United Shoe Workers of America had complete organization in cutting department of said firm.

Some of the reasons why the United Shoe Workers of America refuse to join the Boot and Shoe Workers' Union:

That in union stamp factories under Boot and Shoe Workers' Union cutters are working 55 hours per week, while in factories controlled by United Shoe Workers of America they have a 55-hour week.

That cutters in Union Stamp factories are receiving 30 cents per hour, and in those controlled by United Shoe Workers, 42¢ per hour.

That piece price paid in Union Stamp factory are lower than those having working agreement with United Shoe Workers.

A SHOE WORKER.

Cost of Mazda Lamps.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
Why does the Incandescent Gas Light and Power Co. advertise Mazda lamps so profusely, informing their patrons that they "have a large per cent of electricity, when at the end of the year the patrons find their bills including the extra price charged for the lamp, amounts to more than when they used the old-style lamps, which are exchanged free of cost, while a large price is charged for the Mazda lamps?"

I am told in the City of Mexico and some places in this country Mazda lamps are exchanged free of cost, same as the old-style are here.

If the company can show where the saving in cost is, it is in order for it to do so.

VERITAS.

Merely as a Warning.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
Signor Zimmerman, 17-year-old hero of towns of St. Louis thata, who, under arrest, tells about the "easy life of the robber," has just come to the hard part of it.

I cut this nasty little clipping out of paper and I think you ought to be ashamed of yourself. Instead of chucking this poor orphan boy deeper in the mud why don't you live up to your policy of never lacking sympathy with the poor and never tolerate injustice? Why don't you investigate and find out what led this poor boy to commit robbery—that is, if he did it. I know him since he was a little child selling papers on the streets, and his boozie-fighting father would take his pennies to buy booze with. The boy had no one to take his part or look after him, his mother being dead. I say shame on you! Is this justice?

AN OLD SUBSCRIBER.

The paragraph was based on the statement in the news that the young man had boasted of "the easy life of the robber." It was simply intended as a warning to other young men who might be tempted to be dishonest, that, as the Good Book says, "the life of the transgressor is hard."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

THANKS to Legal Aid Society.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
I want to give thanks through your valuable medium. I was tied up with a brokerage company who charged me an awful rate of interest for my loan; was advised to go to the Legal Aid Society, and was astonished how easily they settled at the rate of 6 per cent per year. I advise anyone who is tied up with a loan man, as in my case, to see this society. I am grateful for what they did for me and are willing to do for others. E. D. W. CONNELLY, 1346 Hickory st.

THE WARNING OF A CARTOON.

The Post-Dispatch cartoon on this page today is intended to carry a warning and to describe a possible rather than an existing situation.

By a vote of the people of Missouri the building of a new State house has been directed. The improvement calls for the expenditure of a greater sum than any other single enterprise in which the State has engaged since the Civil War.

What is believed to be an excellent Building Commission has been selected. However, at the very beginning of work, intriguing over the bond to be given by the contractor and over the behest of the $36,000 indemnity premium has revealed standards of official propriety on the part of certain State officers calculated to render Missourians uneasy.

These are State officers, who, while they have surrendered direct responsibility for details of building, yet have large political influence. They are members of the board which selected the Building Commissioners. The bonding incident has shown how their powerful influence may be exerted in matters directly or indirectly connected with construction operations.

What conditions of reproach may not attend the spending of the entire $3,500,000 if the standards apparently controlled in this bonding incident are to govern in all other details associated with the problem of providing the State with a new capital?

The time to extirpate even a putative quality in sinister influence is now, at the very start of the undertaking. Experience in other states has shown how early laxity may develop into a boldness that has dared to build capitol on a corner stone of graft.

The taxpayers have not run themselves $3,500,000 in debt to provide profits in constructive work for the friends and supporters of politicians. The influence of officials who look on the appropriation only as a spoils asset and who scrutinize expenditure for opportunities in magnifying political strength must be neutralized.

Ten thousand more Missourians owned motor cars at the end of 1913 than at the end of 1912, and thousands more substituted new models for old ones. To supply the Missouri demand for automobiles would alone create a flourishing industry in the State.

In one district of Bulgaria the fighting reduced the number of men from 175,000 to 42,000. The only thing more deplorable than Bulgaria's successful war with Turkey would have been an unsuccessful war.

RELATED BOSTONIANS.

Calumet mine owners tell Gov. Ferris they are willing their employees shall belong to a labor union, but not to the union they now belong to. The mine owners object to that union, because, they say, it "preaches class hatred." What they mean is that it is a Socialistic union, advocating national ownership of the mines.

The Calumet mines are chiefly owned by Boston capitalists. Is this not a strange doctrine to issue from the "cradle of American liberty"?

Gov. Ferris might simplify the situation by informing these belated Bostonians that in this country the rights of free thought, free speech and organization for mutual aid in lawful form are guaranteed by that Constitution which Bostonians of the eighteenth century helped to frame.

Both the New Haven road and Mexico have been overwhelmed by earthquakes resembling San Francisco, tidal waves resembling Galveston's and volcanic action of tremendous violence, is located on Kishu, which of the large Japanese Islands is farthest to the southwest from our Aleutian group, lately visited by disturbance. The New Hebrides, where craters are also in eruption, are in a longitude between that of Kagoshima and the Aleutian crater and below the equator, thousands of miles to the south.

The fact that eruptions of epochal severity should break out within a brief period in three different centers in the Pacific will interest students of volcanic phenomena, but the three centers are separated by long distances and a line connecting them would describe a section of a great parabola in the ocean. The name Mitake is applied to the burning mountain on the small island of Sakura-Jima in the bay opposite Kagoshima, which has caused more mischief than the other volcanoes only because it was surrounded by more people and property of greater value.

The chief Kagoshima industry is peculiarly susceptible to damage from calamity of this sort. Great quantities of Satsuma chinaware are made there.

How much of a judicial attitude would those who places under elective officers give to any candidate who might oppose for nomination the men from whom they got their jobs?

The Freeholders have strengthened the merit system under the new charter. Not only city commissioners but party committeemen in counties, legislative and congressional districts and of a public office. The unanimous vote of the Freeholders expresses the present state of sentiment on the subject.

Laws recognizing party organizations, especially direct nomination laws, have given the party committeemen's place an enlarged importance. Some of his responsibilities are semi-judicial. It is his duty before the nominations to observe a strict, square-deal impartiality towards all the candidates.

But how much of a judicial attitude would those who places under the new charter and eight Democratic city committeemen, who hold salaried offices, show on any party issue affecting their own jobs? How close an imitation of a square deal would those with places under elective officers give to any candidate who might oppose for nomination the men from whom they got their jobs?

How much of a judicial attitude would those who places under the new charter and eight Democratic city committeemen, who hold salaried offices, show on any party issue affecting their own jobs? A Chance Acquaintance

By HELEN A. HOLDEN.

"I WANT to explain my bringing a stranger here," said Richardson, "and Richard- son detained his hostess from joining the other guests.

"Surely no apology is necessary," replied Mrs. Frederick. "Any friend of yours is always welcome."

"I suppose it has reached the stage of friendship, but really I have known Lagrange only a very short while. May I shift some of the responsibility by telling you about him?" asked Richardson.

"I know I should enjoy hearing it, but the guests are already impatient to begin their bridge. I shall send Dorothy to you. You know I have implicit faith in my sister's judgment, and if she approves it will be all right."

"Miss Clinton," began Richardson, "as soon as we had taken Mrs. Frederick's place, 'your frivolous sister prefers bridge to the biography of an interesting stranger.'

"He does look interesting," replied Dorothy Clinton, "but I would rather just learn about him as we go along."

"I see I already have a rival. However, I insist on your knowing, so possess your soul in patience for a few moments. It all came about over a rare bit of royal Satsuma that I saw in an out-of-the-way antique shop. I was surprised at the dealer's obstinacy in going higher each time, instead of coming down nearer my original offer. One day there was a stranger in the place of the shopkeeper seemed unnecessarily nervous. Of course it transpired that the stranger was the man who had been bidding against me, so it was not long before we came to an agreement. I have no doubt that the dealer was very enough he had not closed with one of us before our fatal meeting.

"From the first, I liked the way the stranger handled the situation; so when he suggested drawing lots for the piece of Satsuma—a beautiful plate—I invited him to my rooms, where he immediately proceeded to win the prize. He has called a few times since, and our talk always begins or ends with the same object. He evidently has a fine collection. He came in tonight just as I was starting to visit you; and remembering that you, too, had the china fad, I brought him along. Don't like him too well, for you see I really know nothing about him. So much for the man. Now you can tell him his bridge."

As the game progressed, Dorothy looked triumphantly at Richardson, for her partner played a remarkably successful and intelligent game. Richardson began to feel uneasy. It seemed as if Lagrange handled his cards too well. Once more he wished he knew more about the man.

Finally they gave up the game in despair, Dorothy having won absolutely one-sided; and Richardson suggested to Dorothy that Lagrange would be interested to see her collection of china.

When they reached the cabinet in the den, Lagrange's hand went out instinctively to a beautifully decorated cup and saucer in gold luster.

"Why, I have a cup which is, I think, an exact copy of that," he said in some excitement. "I have searched everywhere for a saucer to match. Tell me, if you don't mind, where you picked this up?"

"In a small town far up in Canada," replied Miss Clinton. "It would be no trouble to give you the address, for it was the only piece they had. As the gold luster is a lost art, I'm afraid there is no possible chance of their having any new ones."

"No; but there might be more of the old ones stored away. I should search the town from attic to cellar," replied Lagrange.

"It is as serious as that, and you will promise not to leave immediately. I shall be glad to divide the secret. I got the cup from Mrs. Philander Bush, who lives at a place called La Tugue, up on the St. Maurice River."

"Thank you. Some day I hope to call on Mrs. Philander."

Although Lagrange admired the collection, his attention was never long diverted from the cup and saucer.

"You had better take it," he said, laughing. "Or I shall never be able to part with it."

There was a sudden breathless pause while each looked at the other in consternation. Whether Lagrange had left before Dorothy Clinton took hold, or just how it happened, neither could tell. Lagrange made a lightning-like move, and caught the cup as it slipped through their fingers, but the cup was in pieces on the floor.

"Miss Clinton, there is no possible excuse for such clumsiness, and I was put off in the midst of his apology by the arrival of the other guests."

The accident had been explained, there was an awkward pause, it was difficult to sympathize with Dorothy without implying a criticism of the unfortunate accident. Mrs. Clinton regained her self-possession and took command of the situation.

"Please, let me tell you another story. It will be all right," interrupted Richardson, "when Lagrange gives you his card, you know, he thinks he has a perfect match."

There was no eager assurance from Lagrange, however. Where did he hide? In his embarrassment he wondered, the guests looked from one to another, but the culprit was not in sight.

"I tell you what," Richardson said, "you're not telling just now." "You know, and I know, that our acquaintance wanted my saucer to come with his set. That is what he has carried off my saucer."

"You know it, and you let him go?" "I suppose so. The conclusion that he disappeared through the doorway during confusion."

"Why didn't you—"

THE SANDMAN STORE FOR TO-NIGHT BY MRS. FEAWALKER

THE BARN DANCE

Of course, all you little folk who have been to dancing school know of the barn dance, but perhaps not all of you have ever heard where and how the first barn dance was given.

One night the farm animals gave a party, and thought the barn the best place for them to dance. For a week before, everyone was talking about it. The music was to be furnished by the cat, who played the fiddle, and the dog would play the drum, and made her prettiest bow.

"I suppose you are not expecting me soon. Our man is off—"

"To Canada," interrupted Dorothy.

"To get his gun," Dorothy said.

"So quietly that even you need know nothing to tell, except to hear of our final success."

The following evening, Miss Clinton was surprised to have Richardson drop in.

"I suppose you were not expecting me so soon. Our man is off—"

"To Canada," interrupted Dorothy.

"To get his gun," Dorothy said.

"So quietly that even you need know nothing to tell, except to hear of our final success."

"No; I have inside information."

She handed him a letter, which read:

"I am sorry to inform you that my apology for my abrupt departure last evening. My only excuse was a mad desire to see if I could not easily redress my own blunders. The difference in coloring prevents it, and necessitates a little trip into the interior of Canada to bring back the saucer, which I carry with me as a talisman. Yours hopefully,

"Mrs. Worthington Lagrange, nee Clinton, shows as her choice possession a cup and saucer of gold luster, and smiles when anyone remarks that the flowers on the cup are red, while those on the saucer are pink. People wonder why her second best is a cup and saucer of gold luster with blue flowers, than may be easily seen."

Jim Phelps, a farmer living near McMinn, Ill., had the unusual experience of being kidnapped by a locomotive. While driving across the tracks on the way to town, a train came along, smashed the buggy, and Phelps found himself on the cowcatcher, from which he was not rescued until the train had reached Solit, Ill., 10 miles distant.

The accident had been explained, there was an awkward pause, it was difficult to sympathize with Dorothy without implying a criticism of the unfortunate accident. Mrs. Clinton regained her self-possession and took command of the situation.

TWO DOCTORS ARE HELD ON FALSE PRETENSE CHARGE

Dr. Miller and Dr. H. C. Lloyd After Reporters Present Marked Bills.

THEIR DIAGNOSES DIFFER

"Patient" Had Certificate From Reputable Physician That He Was Sound.

Dr. Miller, who advertises himself as a specialist in men's diseases and whose office is at the southeast corner of Thirteenth and Olive streets, and Dr. Horace C. Lloyd of 1214 Olive street, who advertises in a similar manner, were arrested Wednesday by two special officers of the Health Department and warrants charging them with obtaining money under false pretenses were drawn up by Prosecuting Attorney Sidener.

The arrests were made on the complaint of two reporters for an afternoon newspaper, Louis A. Schreiner and William B. Flynn, whose names appear in the warrants. They declare they went to the two specialists, Schreiner representing himself as a patient, though physically sound and well, and that Miller and Lloyd took marked bills in return for diagnoses.

Flynn went along, it was stated, posing as a friend of Schreiner, and witnessed the diagnosis and the payment of the money.

Before the visit to the two physicians, it was stated, Schreiner was examined by a reputable physician, recommended by the Board of Health, who certified that he was free from disease.

A committee representing several hundred Greeks had obtained permission from City Clerk Clark Griffin to hold a 24-hour celebration beginning at 12 o'clock noon on New Year's Day. IRON TRADE INCREASING

"It is not unusual that political influences will be more or less superseded presently by news from the channels of home trade."

THE IRON TRADE.—In the Iron Age, while awaiting its readers that it is easy to exaggerate the pace of recovery in the steel trade, it is equally easy to underestimate in condemning the recent extravagant statements as to the scope of the recent reaction and its effect upon employment.

As yet other industries have not been definitely heard from, but in most of them the reaction itself had scarcely begun.

"Some highly interesting statements in the country foreign trade in December, particularly in the fall, will still presently be at hand and may possibly contribute to the drift of feeling on the market.

THE JARR FAMILY

By ROY L. McCARDELL

Mr. Jarr Again Finds His Way Into the Highest Court Circles.

WILL, I suppose we'll have to hurry down to the Night Court and get your sister Irene and Dr. Gumm out of their joy riding scrapes," said Mr. Jarr as he speeded the parting guests from the breaking up tango party.

"Exskooch muh," replied Miss Gladys Cackleberry as she yawned behind her hand for Gladys was noted for her good manners. "But I'm dead tired. If Irene Cackleberry could leave the party Mrs. Jarr was giving in her honor as well as mine and not even say 'exskooch'—again Miss Cackleberry was yawning behind her hand—"muh, exskooch muh, why, I'm not going to lose my sleep over it!" And Miss Gladys Cackleberry hurried to her bedroom, for Jack Silver had escaped with the rest of the guests and the party was over.

"What are we going to do about Irene Cackleberry down at the Night Court?" asked Mr. Jarr of Mrs. Jarr, who was sitting in his "redding up" of the front room putting the chairs and rugs into place and pushing under the sofa such flossam and jessam as bathrobe, fans, artificial coverage bouquets and pink pad powder puffs, a small lace hankie twisted into a ball, a glove and other indications of a good time being had by all.

Mrs. Jarr gave Mr. Jarr neither word nor glance, but plucked up a sparkling back comb gauded with brilliants, muttered "celluloid and rhinestones," and got on with the hurried redding up. "I ask you who's going downtown with me to get Miss Cackleberry and Dr. Gumm out of the jug—I suppose they are in the jug?" asked Mr. Jarr again.

Mrs. Jarr gave him a cold look. "I have responsibility enough with the one Cackleberry girl I have beneath my roof," she finally remarked. "If the other chooses to leave my roof and slope and compromise herself, let him marry her!"

"Who, Dr. Gumm?" asked Mr. Jarr. "Why, he only took her for a ride in Jack Silver's racer as a lark. I don't think he meant to slope."

"Well, what's the harm? Dr. Gumm will find it a very serious business," said Mrs. Jarr. "I wash my hands of it!" "Well, make her sister come down with me to court!" Mr. Jarr insisted.

"I cannot interfere; I think Gladys is doing exactly right. If Irene has made her bed, let her lie on it!" snapped Mrs. Jarr.

"My gracious! Does Dr. Gumm have to marry a girl he took for an auto ride in another fellow's car simply because he busted the car?" inquired Mr. Jarr.

"I advise you not to interfere," said Mrs. Jarr. "Irene Cackleberry has a mother, she has a stepfather; let them be."

"Oh, it isn't so bad as that. I'll run downtown and get them out of the trouble," said Mr. Jarr.

"Well, wake up your friend the detective, who is asleep in the kitchen; maybe he'll go with you," said Mrs. Jarr.

Mr. Jarr accepted the suggestion. The stout, red-faced man of many names was asleep on the kitchen range when Mr. Jarr shook him. "On the job, partner; on the job!" cried the fat detective. "Tell 'em I'm Detective Danny Dunn of the Boiler Inspection Squad."

"Come on down to the Night Court with me to get out some friends," said Mr. Jarr.

"Sure was the reply, and the two set forth. There was a light burning in 'Gus', and the detective insisted that Mr. Jarr come in and have a "bowl." He made so much noise at the side door of the restaurant that he was stopped and looked out of a window. "Can the chaperone?" announced the plain-clothes man in authoritative tones. "It's Dugan of the Mary Squad! Come down and open up!"

Gus grumbled, but awoke by the mystery of the law in plain clothes, came yawning down in nightshirt and trousers. "Well, Mike, and how are you?" he asked Gus, affably. "I want to meet my little friend here, Costigan; this little guy has sold more unimproved real estate."

Gus regarded Mr. Jarr with a dropped jaw.

"I'm glad to meet you," he said. "And don't you remember the big time we had last Fourth of July?" continued the plain-clothes man. "You said to me 'Remember, Sergeant Slattery; if you ever come here, it's a bottle of wine on me.' So, being in your town on business, I thought I'd bring my friend here. Character, I mean to slope."

"Right!"

THE cost of living is like a lady dressing for the theater."

"It is."

"Yes. It seems as though neither of them will ever come down."

HITS FROM SHARP WITS.

The sun is beginning to rise earlier now, but the alarm clock hasn't changed. It stays up all night and waits for its victim.

Two hours later his employer left the house and when he got to the corner was astonished to see Annie standing there anxiously looking at every car that passed and muttering angrily, "Four hundred and wan! That's not it! Four hundred and wan!"

"Stepping up to her he asked: 'What's the trouble, Annie?'

"Trouble?" answered she. "Trouble enough! Here I've been, for two months, waitin' for car four hundred and wan—and sora's sight of it!"

"Why are you waiting for car 401?" asked her employer.

"Why?" fairly shrieked the exasperated Annie. "Why? Didn't you tell me yourself to be sure to get the same car that we did last Sunday?"

A GENTLEMAN gave a large dinner party in Dublin once and invited Mr. O'Connor, one of the wittiest men in the Emerald Isle, to amuse and divert his guests. Mr. O'Connor accepted the invitation with pleasure. But from the beginning to the end of the dinner he preserved a solemn and serious face.

The host thought this very strange and just before rising from the table remarked to him jestingly: "Why, O'Connor, old fellow, I don't believe the biggest fool in Ireland could make you laugh tonight."

Whereupon his guest announced his first word that evening: "Try." —Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

To Too Optimistic.

SO you don't like that professional optimist?"

"Not much!" replied Mr. Growther: "there are times when I might forget my troubles if he were not constantly advising me to make a terrible effort to cheer up."

ARE you aware that you are imperiling your immortal soul sir?" admonished the theological seminary professor to the untruthful undergraduate. "And, what is worse, sir, you render yourself liable to a cash fine not exceeding $2 and not less than $1.25 for each offense!"

Didn't Deserve It.

Howard is quite a spender. His only living relative is an old uncle who is not; and there are other differences between Howard and his uncle, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

However, one day not long ago our young hero more or less diffidently approached his avuncular relative with the intimation that it would be a graceful thing for the old chap to loosen up.

"Young man," said the uncle, "you are a spendthrift. If I had money I would not give it to you. But I have no money. You seem to think I have a treasure hidden away somewhere. Get rid of that notion. I have saved up a sum large enough to bury me decently when I die, and that is all. Now get out."

There is always hope for the young man who will admit that he doesn't know about everything that is worth knowing.
